

PRÊT A RACKET

Brace yourself for the iconic lighting set that makes you shine with pleasure.

Here's the story

Prêt a Racket is a set of three solar powered floor lights that come as great little rockets. Readymade to install in your garden or rooftop. Prêt a Racket impacts like no other standing lamp does. Are you ready to countdown? With a bit of imagination you recognize a playful design in these rockets. But don't be fooled, since this ingenious Prêt a Racket is everything but a toy. These are freestanding garden floor lights that charge with solar power. With their tip facing the sky, you easily distinguish Prêt a Racket by its typical Fatboy-red fuse. Gently pull this cord to switch the lamp on and off. Don't worry if you forget this: it automatically switches off after six hours. Use its sharp floor pin to firmly stick Prêt a Racket into the ground.

When the evening falls, get ready for countdown and see how its pleasant, warm light automatically ignites. Yes, the name does hint towards 'prêt-a-porter' and 'pret a manger'. However, Prêt a Racket has got nothing to do with either fashion or sandwiches.

It refers to joy, since the name is derived from the Dutch 'pretraket': a person who has lots of fun. How that sounds in other languages makes Prêt a Racket even more exciting.
